Mothers' Day was a great day, and just because it's over, let's don't lose the spirit.

Great crowd at the Rescue picnic, the eighth annual Mothers' Day picnic.

Capital Rod and Gun Club, of Sacramento, had a picnic at Bass Lake. If you've never been there, it will be worth your while to pay a Springtime visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Robinson and son, Gary, spent Mothers' Day with Grandpa and Grandma Robinson near Oroville.

Mrs. Phyllis Traynor and daughter, Sandra, were up from Sacramento for Mothers' Day.

Mrs. Edith Salvater came over from Auburn to spend Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Edith Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leventon were in town early Monday from Grizzly Flat.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wood arrived Sunday from Seaside, Oregon, to spend a few days. Mr. Wood's mother, Mrs. Dora Wood, is a patient at Placerville Sanatorium for a general rest.

Ernest Oppenheimer and John Hulbert Horn scaled Pyramid Peak Sunday and then couldn't find a place to register on the summit. It had been covered by new snow. But they took some pictures and if they turn out well, that will prove they were on the peak, anyway.

Ben McLaughlin was up from San Francisco Sunday to visit his old-time friend, Alex MacLaughlin, who has not been well lately.

Mrs. Pauline Brownell was up from Vallejo Sunday, visiting Miss Margaret Atkins and other old-time friends.

George Miller is here from Portland, renewing friendships and visiting with relatives.

Forest Supervisor Edwin F. Smith and Ranger George B. Young were at Stockton Monday, in conference with the officials of the Stockton municipal camp at Silver Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Don Thomsen, at Mill Valley.

Graeme Thorne, who was work superintendent of the CCC camp at Calador last summer, has returned to resume that post for the ensuing summer.

Dave Young spent the week-end at Fallon, Nevada.

Harry B. Williams, charged with disturbing the peace, was given a 5-day jail term Monday morning by Acting Police Judge T. F. Lewis.

The upshot of an auto accident Sunday on Broadway is that George Gill, owner of one car, will repair damage done to the car of Mr. and Mrs. A. Hamlascher, of Pino Grande and A. E. Boom, who was driving Gill's car, was fined $15 for driving without a license and for having four in the seat of a coupe. No one was injured. The legal details of the matter were before Acting Police Judge T. F. Lewis Monday morning.

Owing to the absence of attorney Thomas Maul, who is at San Francisco and will not return until Wednesday, the scheduled meeting of the city council, set for tonight, is continued without date. Mr. Maul was the "keystone" of the matters which the Council expected to take up tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grady returned Sunday evening to their home at San Francisco after spending Mothers' day here with the H. O. Waldron family.

Lorin Waldron has been transferred to San Andreas as a tank truck salesman for the Shell Oil Company.

Mr. Mary McDonald is here from Sacramento visiting old friends.

George Sterner, of Pollock Pines, has been displaying some of his handicraft lately, which has caused a good deal of interest. It is a new type aerial for car radio, designed in the shape of a "V-8" suitable for installation on top of the auto. It is said by those who

RESCUE PICNIC LURES THROG

Eighth Annual Community Gathering Held Sunday At Litten-MacDonald Grove

The eighth annual Mothers' Day picnic at Rescue has passed into history, fulfilling the tradition of a large attendance and an enjoyable time for all, which has marked the community gathering since its inauguration.

The program for the entire day and all arrangements for the picnic had been concluded by a joint community committee, appointed by the Grange and the Farm Bureau, and to them the credit for the success of the occasion is due.

The exercises during the forenoon had Dr. L. J. Anderson, of Placerville, as master of ceremonies, and opened with a group of numbers by the high school band, directed by Charles W. Ball. The band made the trip to Rescue as a unit in one of the high school fleet of busses.

On the speaking program were the Rev. John Dunlap, who gave the Mothers' Day address, and Warden Clyde I. Plummer, of Folsom State Prison; State Master George Sehlmeier, of the Grange; Charles I. Gilmore, Sacramento attorney; Miss Margaret A. Kelly, of Kelsey; and Frank Pierce, of Berkeley, chairman of the recreation department of the California Farm Bureau Federation.

Mr. and Mrs. Gearhart contributed several vocal and instrumental numbers to the program and Harry Criddle in community singing.

Following the picnic luncheon, for

Fields, Siderius Choose Prison

Pair Found Guilty Of Grand Theft Go To San Quentin To Await Ruling On Appeal

Robert Fields and Mitchell D. Siderius, found guilty on grand theft in connection with highgrading at the Black Oak Mine at Garden Valley, will go to San Quentin prison rather than remain here in the county jail pending ruling on their appeal.

Attorney Wallace Shepard, who is appealing in behalf of the men to the District Appellate Court, said Monday that the men had elected to go to prison pending a ruling on their appeal.

The men had applied for release on bail but this was denied by Judge George H. Thompson, who had sentenced them to San Quentin for the term prescribed by law (1 to 10 years) following their conviction.

Attorney Shepard pointed out that he had asked a stay of execution for the men, pending ruling on the application for bail, and that since this had been denied, the men had best go to San Quentin to begin their terms.

Shepard pointed out that if the men remained here in jail pending the ruling on the appeal, which might not be made for from three to six months, they would not get credit for the time served here on their prison record if their appeal should be denied.

The men will be transferred some time this week.

Arthur Williams Rites To Be Wednesday

The body of Arthur Williams, a former resident of Placerville, who died recently at San Francisco, is being sent here for burial in the care of the M. O'Keefe Company on Wednesday morning at Union Cemetery.

Miss Margaret Atkins, of the M. O'Keefe Company, reports Mr. Williams moved to Placerville some thirty years ago.

Mrs. Amstalden Named On Fair Committee

Mrs. Harriett Amstalden, of Placerville, has been named chairman for El Dorado County on the women's committee for the 1939 world's fair at San Francisco.

She will name her own committee and she and her co-workers will be associated in preliminary work for the fair, and will serve as a district hospitality committee during the exposition year.

MISSOURI LADY PASSES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME NEAR YOUNGS

Mrs. Frederica Gish, 57, who was for eighteen years matron and superintendent of the cafeteria of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company at St. Joseph, Missouri, passed away Sunday morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Viola DeWitt, at Youngs. She had been confined to bed for some time following a stroke.

Mrs. Gish was a native of Nebraska and had been with her daughter here for about two and one-half years. She had lived most of her life at St. Joseph, Missouri, where she was a member of the Royal Neighbors, the Rebekahs and the Order of Eastern Star.

Four children, Mrs. DeWitt and Mrs. Martha Reynolds, and James Gish, of Youngs, and Jerome Gish, of El Monte, this state, survive her, in addition to her mother, Mrs. Marie Swenson, of St. Joseph, and four brothers and four sisters.

The arrangements for the funeral services are in the care of the Dillinger mortuary chapel.

Aukum Lady Passes At Grandson's Home

Mrs. Hetta Benton Coe, 78, died Sunday evening at the home of her grandson, Harold Cummings, in the Aukum vicinity. She was a native of Indiana and came to this county a year ago from the Bay District, where she had lived many years. She had suffered a paralytic stroke about five years ago and a formal investigation by Coroner A. J. Orelli affirmed death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

The body is in the care of the Weston chapel, at Plymouth. Mrs. Coe is survived by one son and one daughter in addition to the grandson.

Sunday's Scores

Folsom 15, Colfax 2.
Auburn 8, Grass Valley 4;
Placerville 13, Roseville Tigers 2;
Loomis 6, Wolf and Royer 5, (10 innings);

A "new deal" for the Bartlett infield and a new hurler, Joe Merino, on the mound, proved a winning combination Sunday and the Barts hammered the Roseville Tigers for a 13 to 2 win, taking particular delight in scoring a victory over their former team-mate, Dave Roderick.

Dave retired in the eighth in favor of Cy Williams, veteran former Coast Leaguer.

The shift in the infield sent Neil to shortstop and Begovich to first base and this proved to be needed strengthening, while the addition of Merino to the hurling staff appears to have filled a long-felt want.

Outstanding in the day's performance was Dick Patterson's three base hits in three times at bat. Dick walked twice.

Folsom Swamps Colfax, 15-2

Errors, Failure To Hit When Needed, Contribute To Loss For Thurman's Lions

COLFAX — Playing good, bad and some indifferent baseball, the Colfax Lions lost to the Folsom club here Sunday by the one-sided score of 15 to 2.

The locals totaled eleven hits to thirteen for Folsom but they couldn't hit with runners on the bags while they presented the winners with several runs due to poor fielding and some pitching wildness.

Dave Revering, local southpaw twirler although striking out ten batters developed a wild streak and was relieved in the 8th by Craig Hyde. Reeder for Folsom and Sheehan for Colfax were the leading hitters of the game each getting three hits.

Lippert pitched fine ball for the winners.

The score:	R	H	E
Folsom	15	13	2
Colfax	2	11	5

Batteries — Lippert and Jorgensen; Revering, Hyde and Quadros.

PRESIDIO SERGEANT FACING TRIAL

Ranking "Non-Com" In 30th Infantry Jailed For Taking Secret Papers Home

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—Staff Sergeant Samuel B. Edgeman, stationed at the San Francisco army Presidio, was held under military arrest today on a charge of stealing secret army documents, presidio headquarters announced.

Edgeman was detained in the Presidio guardhouse where he awaited courtmartial Friday.

Maj. T. S. Tinderman said it was not an espionage case. Nature of the secret documents was not revealed, but Maj. Tinderman said they were secret papers which were not available to regimental officers.

Colonel Irving J. Phillipson, commanding officer of the post, said Edgeman was arrested "after a several days' investigation which followed discovery that papers from our secret files were missing."

"It is an unfortunate incident," said Phillipson. "The records were of no great importance. They did not contain important military secrets. They couldn't be sold—no one would want to buy them."

"Edgeman maintains he merely took the papers home to study them. Unfortunately, a federal law says military records cannot be removed in that manner," he said.

Debt Adjustment Units Meet

Closer Contact Between Farm Debtors And Lending Agencies Is Recommended

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—County farm debt adjustment committees of California were on record today to effect closer cooperation between debtor farmers and all types of loan agencies following a week-end convention in the capitol.

Gov. Frank Merriam addressed the delegates yesterday and praised the constructive work of the committees, which have enabled 1500 California families to remain on their farms while paying off refinanced debts.

Alfred Aram, San Jose attorney, made the drastic proposal that the federal government invest money from trust funds, particularly the huge social security collections, in amortized farm loans. He believed that a billion dollars could be invested each year for five years.

State Senator John Phillips of Riverside county presided as permanent chairman of the commission.

COUGARS AT CLARKSBURG WEDNESDAY IN H. S. TITLE RACE

El Dorado County high school Cougars go to Clarksburg Wednesday afternoon to meet the Clarksburg high school nine in an inter-sectional battle.

The Cougars had been scheduled to meet the winner of the Sacramento county league on Tuesday afternoon, but according to word received by Coach L. A. Brown Monday morning, the Sacramento County winner has forfeited to the Cougars.

This is for the reason that they are so many postponed games in the Sacramento County league, that they decided to call the schedule closed rather than play off the games.

Thus, when the Cougars go against Clarksburg, Solano-Yolo County champions, they will be representing the Mother Lode League, in which they won the championship, and the Sacramento County league, in which they have the championship on a forfeit.

At Ione Saturday in an exhibition game with the Preston School of Industry nine, the Cougars were defeated 5 to 4, when the Preston lads gave an A-1 demonstration of how to work a squeeze play in the last half of the ninth.

Mrs. J. P. Morton was called to Sacramento last week by the illness of her mother.

THE Book Mark

By JANE VOILES

After hearing the announcement that John P. Marquand had won the Pulitzer prize with "The Late George Apley," we felt like very small potatoes for the good reason that we had not read the book. For that matter, none of our western critics were asked to nominate their choice, voted for "The Late George Apley." John Piper of The Oregonian and Paul Jordan-Smith of The Los Angeles Times were for Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men" while our three San Franciscoans—Joseph Henry Jackson of The Chronicle, Luther Meyer of The Call-Bulletin and Mary Thomas Miller of The Argonaut voted unanimously for Kenneth Roberts' "Northwest Passage." Somehow Marquand's book with its Boston aura and Beacon street amenities—so much we gathered from a review, seems remote and isolated from Western living. But we can't let provincialism get the best of us. We are off to the book store for a copy of "The Late George Apley."

"Della Lutes' 'The Country Kitchen,' you may remember was a unique book that became a favorite. Her 'Home Grown,' bound in the same cheerful, checked cover but green, this time, is if possible, even better. It is a book about food principally, recalling the bountiful side of living on farms in Southern Michigan a few decades ago as seen through the curious, observing eyes of a little ten-year-old girl. With a hearty relish, Mrs. Lutes describes church suppers, strawberry festivals, oyster suppers, country dances and the appropriate food that accompanied these festivities.

Cooking was a woman's full-time job in those days and if she had any pride she wanted to do it in the very best way that she knew how. Hours spent over the stove were never grudging since they were a cheerful contribution to the pleasure of the family. After all, a woman's activities were limited as there were not many fields open for feminine self-expression. Women mixed cakes or baked bread with the same concern that makes them paint pictures, lead orchestras or fly airplanes today.

The old recipes that Mrs. Lutes makes available are worth the price of the book: recipes for Black Queen cake, molasses cookies, "Schnitz un Knepp" soups, and head cheese. Besides apple pie and apple pudding, she explores the possibilities of an apple extensively, giving directions for making apple dumplings, apple dowdy, apple fool and apple frump.

When we come right down to it, none of us really want the past back again. We have rid our minds and our houses of much stuffiness, but in sweeping out little too hasty and swept out some of the things that would profit us still. In the rubbish Mrs. Lutes reminds us, may have gone that courage which dared us to admit freely that we conformed to a few ideals—the ideals of chastity and the sanctity of marriage and the home. But Mrs. Lutes does not moralize, she assures of that.

It is her belief that the cramped and narrow board of today presided over by strictly counted calories, may do something for our figures but is inimical to benevolent living, for food has its worth in moulding the physical life of man and the spiritual as well. Women are turning their backs on the kitchen, "So-called larger interests have absorbed them," Mrs. Lutes declares, "until the blessing of hospitality has but left the houses and the pleasure and satisfaction once found in the growing, preserving and preparation of food are all but lost."

If you are fed up on housework and the cook stove, "Home Grown" will give the proper bounce to your spirits. Mrs. Lutes writes with a genuine magic touch that makes the housewife rejoice in her job.

"R. F. D." by Charles Allen Smart presents country life from another angle. Smart is the typical young modern looking at life with clear eyes and without sentimentalities. Some of us oldsters may shrink just a little at his lack of reticence but it is just such a book as this that will keep us from becoming old fogies any sooner than we have to. Not that we have to accept it without question but read it we should in order to know what the new generation thinks.

There are no wambling whimsicalities in "R. F. D." about old dog Tray or old boss May, the does call a cow Elaine and a goose Philander. With frankness and honesty, Mr. Smart sees himself in relation to his land and in relation to the current of modern life and modern ideas. Inheriting a 63-acre farm, he and his wife both city-bred move to the farm. After three years, in one of the most readable books of the season, he reckons his profits and his losses. But it isn't all in dollars and cents, although he doesn't omit them. "The quality of a farm," he writes, "is measured accurately and beyond appeal by the quality of the farmer, that is, by how much he is growing and enjoying life himself, and not by his efficiency."

Mrs. Charles Brandon was in town from near Latrobe Monday.
